Eskimo Kayak —

Government survey of dental condition of Eskimos in Eastern Arctic — on recommendation of Dr. F. J. Banting who had visited the north in 193 — an investigation was organized — including Dr. Charles Williams, Sr. of T. ¹⁹³⁹ While in the north Dr. Williams met John Bachus, son of the Canadian Governor General. Dr. Williams inquired of J. B. how he could obtain a kayak & ~~from~~ ^{to} ~~him~~ ^{himself}.
J. B. offered him one that he had obtained for himself. Dr. Williams arranged to have it shipped on the Naalok to Churchill and thence by rail to Hurstville. He used it for many years on Georgian Bay. Shortly after coming south the skin covering began to dry and crack. He had it covered with canvas. This craft is 25 ft long and sturdily built for large rough waters: Where did Dr. Williams get it.

at the very first opportunity I want to go to Albion and find the spot where the village of Centerville once stood. I want to spend a day at least for it will take time to find the grave yards and search for the names of the people ~~and~~ of whom my mother has so often spoken - especially the ancestors and their lines of descendants. I think that no one of the name or blood now remains. But I have a picture of the place in my mind's eye and though I know I will have to change the picture when I see the actual place I am curious to compare the imaginary for the real.

A merchant ship put out to sea
To carry good to you and me
A little gull flew along behind To gather up the bacon rind.

Manes & submarines were passed
The East Coast came in view at last The sailors fed the gull each day
The little gull it followed on

A ^{German bomber} ~~bombing~~ plane put ~~out~~ to sea
To sink all goods for you and me A bomb came dropping through the air
It hit the gull surprised there Feathers fluttered from the sky Sea gull feathers fell the spy grabbed by sailors - standing by.
Preserved by them as a souvenir Of the ^{little} gull they all held dear

The little seagull saved the ship
The bomber cursed & bit his lip.

He pulled the plug and the engine died

A call was sent out far and near For all sea gulls to gather there And this was the little that they sang Cursed be Hitler and his gang.
